

Proposal for Company Retreat to Pokhara

1. Introduction

We propose organizing a company retreat to Pokhara, Nepal, to provide employees with an opportunity to relax, connect with colleagues, and strengthen teamwork outside the regular work environment.

Pokhara offers a combination of natural beauty, recreational activities, and a peaceful atmosphere, making it an ideal destination for a company retreat.

2. Objectives

The main objectives of the retreat are to:

- Strengthen teamwork and communication among employees.
- Improve relationships between different departments and teams.
- Give employees an opportunity to relax and refresh away from their normal work environment.
- Encourage collaboration through group activities.
- Recognize and appreciate employees for their hard work.
- Create positive memories and improve overall team morale.

3. Proposed Destination

Pokhara, Nepal

Pokhara is well known for its lakes, mountains, natural scenery, and variety of recreational activities. The city provides suitable options for both relaxation and team-building activities.

Possible activities include:

- Boating at Phewa Lake
- Visiting Davis Falls and Gupteshwor Cave
- Exploring the Lakeside area
- Sunrise viewing from Sarangkot
- Group games and team-building activities
- Hiking or nature walks
- Group dinner and cultural entertainment

4. Proposed Duration

3 Days / 2 Nights

A possible schedule could be:

Day 1 – Travel & Team Activities

- Morning departure from Kathmandu
- Lunch during the journey
- Arrival and hotel check-in
- Free time to relax
- Evening team-building activities
- Group dinner

Day 2 – Pokhara Exploration

- Early morning visit to Sarangkot for sunrise
- Breakfast
- Visit to selected local attractions
- Boating at Phewa Lake
- Afternoon leisure time
- Evening group dinner and entertainment

Day 3 – Relaxation & Return

- Breakfast
- Short morning activity or free time
- Hotel check-out
- Lunch
- Return journey to Kathmandu
- Arrival in Kathmandu in the evening

5. Estimated Budget

The final budget will depend on the number of participants, hotel category, transportation, and selected activities. The major expenses are expected to include:

Expense	Estimated Cost
Transportation	NPR _____
Accommodation	NPR _____
Meals	NPR _____
Activities & Entry Fees	NPR _____
Team-Building Activities	NPR _____
Miscellaneous	NPR _____
Total Estimated Cost	NPR _____

A detailed quotation can be obtained from hotels and transportation providers before final approval.

6. Expected Benefits

The retreat is expected to have several positive outcomes for the company, including:

- Better communication and cooperation among employees.
- Stronger relationships within teams.
- Increased motivation and employee satisfaction.
- Improved workplace morale.
- Greater sense of belonging to the organization.
- A refreshed and more positive workforce after returning to work.

7. Conclusion

A company retreat to Pokhara would be a valuable opportunity to combine employee appreciation, relaxation, team building, and organizational bonding.

We recommend approving the proposed 3-day, 2-night Pokhara retreat and forming a small organizing committee to finalize the itinerary, accommodation, transportation, activities, and budget.

We believe this retreat will provide employees with a memorable experience while contributing positively to teamwork and workplace culture.
